

WOLF

SINCE 1834

THE ONLY ONE THAT COUNTS

A British icon since 1834, WOLF continues to command attention in the luxury leather-goods market, designing the world's most exquisite watch winders, watch boxes, and jewellery cases. Family led for five generations, WOLF maintains its quality craftsmanship year after year, distinguishing itself from others with its superior patented technology and sophisticated design.

Patents differentiate them. Precision defines them. WOLF not only understands the importance of keeping timepieces wound accurately and effectively, they have the technology to support it.

A WOLF winder is a handmade precision instrument. From the optimum size of drum and cuff to the technology that delivers exact turns per day, WOLF tests the tests to ensure the highest possible quality – nothing is left to chance. A WOLF winder focuses on the health of your watch with patented innovation. This patent includes custom algorithms and technology governing how the turns are counted.

Only a WOLF counts rotations – all the others simply use time to estimate the counts per day. With 184 years of innovation, WOLF knows that relying on time is simply never enough.
