SEA-TIMER BLACKMOTION

NO SPORT, NO FUN

Whether on, in or by the water, the Sea-Timer BlackMotion is totally in its element. This robust sports watch is the ideal companion for anyone who loves to be outdoors. And it is made by a brand that celebrates 150 years of experience in producing reliable instruments.

This new Mühle sports watch is an absolute must for anyone who is always on the move and simply cannot wait to try out exciting new sports activities. The black stainless steel case of the Sea-Timer BlackMotion is highly recognisable. It features not only a 2.5-millimetre-thick double anti-glare sapphire crystal but also boasts a solid screw-in crown with extra side protection.

A process known as PVD (physical vapour deposition) is used to coat the case of the watch in multiple layers of titanium carbide (TiC). It provides multiple benefits: a surface as black as night, extremely resistant layer thicknesses and increased hardness of the stainless steel case. The case also boasts a pressure resistance of up to 30 bar and is complemented by an equally dark textile strap, made of water-resistant fibres.

The calibre of the watch is the reliable SW 200-1 Mühle version movement. It contains the company's patented particularly shockproof woodpecker neck regulator and is set to ensure accuracy values of between 0 and a maximum of +8 seconds per day.

The combination of casual styling and top functionality is reflected in the face and hands of the the Sea-Timer BlackMotion. The outer area of the face, which is home to the watch's fine minute graduation and high-contrast white hour indices, features a matt black design as an ideal solution for excellent readability. This is joined by blackened nickel-plated hands, which stand out perfectly as they complete their 24-hour circuit training.
